

Market Commentary

European equity markets lost some gains from the previous month as macro data pointed to a slowing economy, underperforming other global regions like China, which benefited from stimulus measures. Germany and Spain performed well, while French equities lagged due to potential tax increases. It was anticipated that the ECB would cut rates by 25bp, and Eurozone inflation dropped to 1.8%, below the ECB's target, driven by falling energy prices. The German Ifo index indicated a recession, while the Eurozone PMI signalled contraction.

In the UK, equities closed lower in September due to weak economic data and concerns over the upcoming budget. UK inflation remained at 2.2%, and the Bank of England held rates at 5.0%, with a cut expected in November. Wage growth slowed due to falling employment and vacancies. Sterling rose against the dollar, but consumer confidence fell, and public debt reached 100% of GDP, raising the likelihood of tax increases and spending cuts.

Risk Warning

The value of investments and any income will fluctuate (this may partly be the result of exchange-rate fluctuations) and investors may not get back the full amount invested. The lack of common standards may result in different approaches to setting and achieving ESG objectives. In addition, the respect of the ESG criteria may cause the Fund to forego certain investment opportunities.

Investment objectives

The fund aims to achieve long-term capital growth integrating an Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) approach with a particular focus on environmental criteria. The actively managed fund seeks to achieve its objective by investing primarily in equity and equity related securities of European companies which meet the fund's ESG criteria. For the full objectives and investment policy please consult the current prospectus. The name and the fund objective changed from Invesco Pan European Structured Equity Fund on 8 April 2021.

Investment process

The fund management team combines a low volatility equity approach with a proprietary multi-factor stock selection model integrating Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) considerations with a particular focus on environmental criteria.

ESG Promotion

The fund focuses on ESG promotions through a combination of best-in-class measures, exclusions of controversial activities and a management of the portfolio's carbon intensity. Moreover, ESG factors are considered in the proprietary risk model through ESG exposure control and adverse ESG Momentum.

Multi Factor approach

The quantitative bottom-up investment process is used to enhance the performance potential. The broadly diversified portfolio aims to benefit from the extra return potential that companies with exposures to Value, Momentum and Quality are expected to provide.

Low Volatility focus

The team's low volatility approach aims to provide improved risk-adjusted returns as well as improved drawdown protection in market corrections.

In this environment the Invesco Sustainable Pan European Structured Equity Fund outperformed its benchmark by 0.87%.

Portfolio Performance

For the month of September, outperformance was primarily driven by the Momentum and Value factors while the Value factor was negative. The strategy's inherently defensive positioning generated positive active returns in September.

Performance Commentary

In September our strategy outperformed its equity reference index. Relative performance is based on different aspects:

The performance of our global multi-factor model had a mixed impact on active performance in the reporting period.

The fund's performance during the period was boosted by the impact of Momentum and Quality. However, the contribution of Value negatively affected active returns.

In this environment, our more defensive low volatility positioning was rewarded and supported the active return. Contrarily, our exposure to companies with a lower market capitalization than the cap-weighted benchmark was not rewarded on a portfolio level and detracted over the course.

Implied active sector weights had a negative impact in September. Here, our overweight in the communication services sector contributed positively, whilst an underweight in the consumer discretionary sector weighed on this month's active return. Implied active country weights, also a residual of our stock selection process, had a negative impact on the relative performance. Here, our underweight in the United Kingdom contributed most, whereas an underweight in Portugal weighed on the active return.

Risk Management

The fund management team controls portfolio volatility. The fund is optimised with the objective of delivering an attractive risk-return relationship. Expected volatility* for the fund at the end of September was 10.71%, while expected total risk* for the equity reference index (MSCI Europe ND) was 12.06%.

* measured in standard deviation

Factor Exposure

The portfolio holds a diversified mix of stocks which are deemed attractive from a factor and/or risk perspective while adhering to the ESG policy of the fund.

From a factor perspective, the portfolio shows balanced exposures to our return-seeking factors Momentum, Quality and Value while having intended below average volatility (low beta) and market capitalisation (low size). Following the ESG promotion, the portfolio also exhibits a favourable ESG profile when compared to the benchmark.

Factor exposure is measured in standard deviations. Low Size, Low Beta, ESG Score measured as difference to the benchmark. CO2 reduction measured as reduction to the benchmark.
